

Compvue's Global High-tech Industry Practice

A UK based fashion retailer is successfully running its online store as a result of Compvue's e-commerce excellence.

Business Challenge

This UK based fashion retailer wanted to create an e-commerce portal where it can sell street-wear and urban-wear for youths. The client wanted a comprehensive blend of e-commerce portal and Content Management System with random banners, random images, new arrivals, last visited product listing and much more. The portal was required to present an image of vibrancy, competitiveness and efficiency. Search engine optimization for the website was a high priority. Real-time integration of the website with PayPal would allow payment processing. The templates of the site had to be designed such that it could support catalogues prepared in Excel. The site had to be integrated with other websites using HTML editor, which would involve considerable amount of coding.

How Compvue Helped

The retailer chose Compvue because of our e-commerce excellence and competitive pricing. We developed an online shopping cart website in Drupal with E-Commerce Module. Functionalities like searching products by brand, size, color, type & style, currency conversion, displaying brands in flash, live support, recently visited products, banner display for each product brand, newsletter subscription, sizing details of a product, send to friend, bookmark & share product and payment integration were added.
